Tutoring Experience

For the past two years, I have worked closely with A-Level and IB students, focusing on analysing complex literary texts, understanding historical contexts, and exploring various critical perspectives. My experience includes helping students prepare for coursework, essays, and final exams, ensuring they achieve strong results.

In addition to A-Level and IB, I have also supported IGCSE students in mastering English Language and Literature. I have guided them in developing strong analytical skills and essay structures, particularly when studying works like Shakespearean drama, Romantic poetry, and modern prose. My goal is always to instil confidence in my students' literary abilities.
